Success Story:

Thanks to the advice and services provided by ASM I was able to secure a position with General Mills before graduating. So far the experience has extended my understanding of the CPG industry as well as enhanced my business skills. General Mills is a great company and through their Sales division and strong career development program I have truly grown in my field. I feel empowered to do my job as well as supported to continuously find opportunities for the business. This tied with great support from my managers as I've transitioned through roles in the organization have really differentiated my development. You have to want to get out there and WIN, they will make sure you have the capabilities and understandings to do so.
